

Note from the Editor-in-Chief

I am pleased to be able to present this special issue of Economic Analysis which is devoted to Scientific Conference "Economic Prospect in the Second Decade of the 21st Century" (14. – 15. April 2010), organized by Belgrade Banking Academy and Institute of Economic Science in Belgrade. Furthermore, I am glad to announce that almost articles for this issue have been collected by Dr Jozef Glova from Faculty of Economics, Technical university in Košice, Slovakia whom I invited to be our guest editor and help me in selecting articles for the first issue of Economic Analysis in 2010. It is another step forward in strengthening cooperation between our partner institutions. At the same time, work on this issue is more closely connected us with colleagues from other Faculties of Economics within V4 and countries of South Eastern Europe who provided special contributions to our peer Journal with their high quality papers.

Thanks to everyone for their cooperation with the hope that it will continue in the future.
