

Notes from the Editor-in-Chief

The last five years, Economic Analysis has attracted an international readership that is primarily academic. However, the primary target group of our peer Journal are not only scholars and researchers. We seek also students and professional audiences as well. The concept of the Economic Analysis is such that it gives the advantage to multidisciplinary approach to various subjects. It also emphasizes publishing of the scientific papers, which have an empirical and a research character. Moreover, there is also the place in the Journal for quality theoretical papers as well, reviews of the latest publications of national and international significance and scientific critiques and discussions.

More information about the journal can be found on our website <http://www.ien.bg.ac.rs/index.php/sr/asopis-ekon-analiza>. We encourage potential authors to contact us if they have any questions about the relevance of their papers for submission. Questions may be directed to the Editorial Office at eaoffice@ien.bg.ac.rs.

Yours,

Editor-in-Chief
