

Notes from the Editor-in-Chief

The Journal of Women's Entrepreneurship and Education (JWE) belongs to that rare group of scientific journals, which encourage multidisciplinary approach in the field of gender aspects of entrepreneurship and education. Therefore, in its content one can find most current topics which are being analysed from the economic, social, psychological, political and other aspects. That makes this scientific Journal interesting and useful reading material for scientists, experts and other readers, which are interested in the same or similar scientific disciplines.

This Journal is an international one, considering its international editorial board and authors. It comes out twice a year in English and it is published by Institute of Economic Sciences from Belgrade. Editorial board is open to all interested parties that want to participate in the role of reviewer, as well as to those willing to contribute to the Journal by their suggestions. We also invite everybody interested to have their paper published in this Journal to follow the author's guide and to send in their papers to the e-mail of the Journal.
